SCULPTURE SPOTLIGHT

Welcome! Highlighting the tremendous quality of sculpture being made today is something we at Fine Art Connoisseur always look forward to with enthusiasm. On view in the following pages is an array of three-dimensional artworks that remind us how endlessly inventive our sculptor colleagues can be. They seemingly never run out of new ways to depict forms in space, and we remain grateful for their energy and skill.

Whether it is classical or abstract, a portrait bust, a bas-relief, or a life-size figure, making a sculpture is seriously hard work. Perhaps none of the fine arts entails quite so many steps as sculpture does. From concept drawing to maquette, from molding or chiseling to casting or firing, from hand-finishing to rigging, the process can be slow, expensive, even dangerous.

Fine Art Connoisseur recognizes that sculptors don't always get the attention they deserve. This issue — including the impressive section that starts here — offers an inspiring opportunity to set that straight, and now we look forward to hearing back from readers like you about the sculptures you have been admiring lately.

Congratulations and thanks to all the sculptors represented here. Please keep up the great work.

Peter Trippi
Editor-in-Chief, Fine Art Connoisseur
